Dear GP,

Please prescribe Hyalofemme as a Non-Hormonal Vaginal Moisturiser (NHVM) for the below-named patient. It is available on FP10 using the details above. Hyalofemme is hormone-free but has been clinically proven to be as effective as local oestrogen therapy for symptomatic relief of vaginal dryness.

Clinical trials showed Hyalofemme to be safe and effective for patients who have been treated for cancer as well as women who are in the menopause, those who have recently given birth, those who are breastfeeding and/or those who experience sexual dysfunction.

REASONS TO PRESCRIBE HYALOFEMME

- Hyalofemme is the only Non-Hormonal Vaginal Moisturiser with published, peer-reviewed clinical and pre-clinical trial evidence to prove it works. We will be happy to send you the data, and/or samples.
- Hyalofemme does not simply act as a temporary lubricant, nor does it just place moisture into the vagina. Its patented Low Molecular Weight version of hyaluronic acid (Hydeal-D) molecules are esters which hydrolyse into hyaluronic acid (HA) over time, as the cells attract the water that HA binds. This restores cell turgor, elasticity and the functionality of the mucous membrane. Its osmolality is within World Health Organisation guidelines.
- Hydeal-D adheres to vaginal tissue for 30% longer than unmodified HA, ensuring a long-lasting action of around three days. Cancer patients may need to use it more often for optimal effect. In this way, Hyalofemme often restores a woman's ability to have spontaneous sex. Female Sexual Function Index scores improved in clinical studies.
- Hyalofemme stimulates the innate immune system release anti-bacterial peptides, helping to address potential infections which are common in menopause. It enhances tissue regeneration which supports healing of microlesions. Data suggests Hyalofemme can reverse vaginal atrophy.
- Hyalofemme is paraben-free and fragrance-free as well as hormone-free. It is non-staining, does not create a messy discharge, and feels like natural vaginal secretions. Its applicator delivers the right dose directly where it's needed.
- 96% of women surveyed said they would recommend Hyalofemme to a friend. For further information, survey results and clinical data contact us or see www.hyalofemme.co.uk
